Introduction

- Study and processing of morphosyntactic variability in Modern Greek multiword compound nouns in the form of Adjective (Adjective) Noun.
- Morphosyntactic variants of adjective+noun compounds:
 - Substantivization.
 - Deletion of the adjective.
 - Substantivization and deletion of the adjective in the same compound noun.
- Morphosyntactic variants of adjective+adjective+noun compounds:
 - Conversion into an adjective+noun compound due to deletion of a constituent.
 - Conversion into a simple noun due to deletion of one or more constituents and substantivization of the adjective.
 - Conversion of the same adjective+adjective+noun compound either into an adjective+noun compound or into a simple noun.

Aim

- Automatic inflection of multiword compound nouns.
- Automatic generation of variants of compound nouns.
- Automatic inflection of variants.

Method

- Multiflex, a cross-language morphosyntactic generator of multiword units (A. Savary, 2005a/b/c, 2007).
- Multiflex has been integrated in the Unitex processor (Paumier 2012).
- Multiflex supports finite-state transducers that can model a number of combining conditions.
