

COST Action IC1207

PARSIng and Multi-word Expressions

Towards linguistic precision and computational efficiency
in natural language processing

Working Group 2: PARSING TECHNIQUES FOR MWEs

PARSEME General Meeting
Warsaw, 18 September 2013

Summary of WG2's round table

Some figures about WG2

- 17 members (incl. 6 women) from 11 countries
- 5 ESRs (incl. 2 women)
- At least 6 members also interested in other WGs

Main issues discussed

- Title and topic(s) covered by WG2
- Internal organization (vice-leader, subgroups)
- Overlap with other WGs

Summary of WG2's round table

Some figures about WG2

- 17 members (incl. 6 women) from 11 countries
- 5 ESRs (incl. 2 women)
- At least 6 members also interested in other WGs

Main issues discussed

- Title and topic(s) covered by WG2
- Internal organization (vice-leader, subgroups)
- Overlap with other WGs

Summary of WG2's round table (continued)

Bottom-up approach: topics would emerge from members, WG leaders assure coherence

Comments/ideas made during the discussion

- Define criteria and election procedure for WG2 vice-leader
- List national projects in relation with WG2
- Define the types of MWEs which are the most relevant to parsing
- Define the tools belonging to the parsing pipeline which are the most impacted by MWEs
- List the main issues raised in WG2 (representation of MWEs in grammars – intersection with WG1 –, evaluating the precision of resources, etc)
- List specific applications of MWE parsing

Summary of WG2's round table (continued)

Bottom-up approach: topics would emerge from members, WG leaders assure coherence

Comments/ideas made during the discussion

- Define criteria and election procedure for WG2 vice-leader
- List national projects in relation with WG2
- Define the types of MWEs which are the most relevant to parsing
- Define the tools belonging to the parsing pipeline which are the most impacted by MWEs
- List the main issues raised in WG2 (representation of MWEs in grammars – intersection with WG1 –, evaluating the precision of resources, etc)
- List specific applications of MWE parsing

Summary of WG2's round table (continued)

Next steps

- Election of the vice-leader (information to come on the mailing list)
- Calls for information to be sent on the mailing list:
 - national projects
 - tools / types of MWEs concerned by your research
 - special interest subgroups
- Update of the website: WG2's list of participants, pointers to relevant papers, practical information, etc

Summary of WG2's round table (continued)

Next meetings

- PARSEME General Meeting (March 2014, Athens)
- MWE 2014 workshop @ EACL (April 2014, Gothenburg)
- Short Term Scientific Missions

About collaborative tools

- Mailing-list
- Website
- Google shared documents (+ Dropbox if needed)

Summary of WG2's round table (continued)

Next meetings

- PARSEME General Meeting (March 2014, Athens)
- MWE 2014 workshop @ EACL (April 2014, Gothenburg)
- Short Term Scientific Missions

About collaborative tools

- Mailing-list
- Website
- Google shared documents (+ Dropbox if needed)