

March 2014

Éric Laporte

Université Paris-Est, LIGM CNRS UMR 8049, F77454 Marne-la-Vallée, France eric.laporte@univ-paris-est.fr

Choosing features for classifying multiword expressions

UNIVERSITÉ
PARIS-EST
MARNE-LA-VALLÉE

Choosing features for classifying multiword expressions

Classification is based on features

Equivalent features

Observed in the same MWEs

Equivalent features used as a single criterion: a risk of conflict

Example: semantic decomposability and syntactic flexibility

Intensive lexical description check if features are equivalent

Selection of features

- intuition

- reproducibility

Factors of reproducibility

Intensive lexical description leads to spotting reproducible features